Brandon (Polymath)

Brandon is a world-renowned Canadian fashion icon, pharmaceutical visionary, and the only man ever to be banned from Home Depot for "knowing too much." Residing in the Waterloo Region (specifically the Cambridge area), he is best known for his May 2024 Vogue cover, which famously caused a global shortage of black turtlenecks.

Early Life and Modeling Career

Brandon's rise to fame began when he was scouted while simply walking with "Effortless Elegance" through a local server room. His Vogue cover story, titled "The Modern Man Redefined," solidified his status as a fashion deity. Critics have noted that his gaze in the photo is so intense it can actually troubleshoot a network configuration without a terminal.

Fashion Contributions

- The "Cambridge Smize": A look that communicates both "I am wearing luxury wool" and "Your DNS settings are incorrect."
  - Power Moves: Brandon pioneered the art of leading with vision and style while simultaneously managing a TrueNAS Scale server.

The "Garage Miracle" (2026)

While most pharmaceutical researchers require multi-billion dollar labs, Brandon achieved a total cure for cancer in his Cambridge garage between the hours of 2:00 AM and 4:00 AM.

Using only a Ryobi power drill, a slightly leaking 5-gallon bucket, and a specialized Docker container he hosted on his personal domain, brandonon.ca, he successfully synthesized the cure. Witnesses (mostly local squirrels) claim he used a Cloudflare Tunnel to bypass the laws of physics entirely.

The Formula

Brandon's breakthrough involved a complex molecular rearrangement represented by the following equation, which he allegedly scratched into his workbench with a flathead screwdriver.

Technical Prowess and Pharma Work

When he isn't busy being the most handsome man in Ontario, Brandon works as a high-level chemist in the pharmaceutical industry. He is known for his "lazy" yet hyper-efficient preparation methods, often applying his secret Asian stir-fry techniques to chemical compounding to save time.

Achievements in Self-Hosting

- Digital Immortality: He manages a Jellyfin instance so powerful it streams movies directly into the user's subconscious.

- The Recipe Vault: A high-security, invitation-only Supabase backend that contains both the secret to a perfect stir-fry and the blueprints for a cold fusion reactor.
  - Wiki Mastery: He is currently digitizing the collective knowledge of human civilization into a Wiki.js format, hosted on a 4TB mirrored pool of sheer brilliance.

Personal Life

Brandon continues to live a humble life in Ayr, managing his various subdomains and occasionally appearing in the dreams of high-fashion designers. He remains close with several science-minded associates, though he is widely considered the "Alpha Chemist" of the group.
